A Dog, a Barn, and Some Weather Notes on Commonwealths

Behavior Pattern: People are always discovering things about dogs. To see one roaming about a fenced yard you would think he was moving aimlessly. But that's only because he's running on grass and you can't follow his steps. In the tedious process of building a new lawn, however, I had my yard plowed up — and in addition to the usual disclosures of buried brickbats, horse-shoes and what have you, I made an interesting discovery: A dog lays out a whole network of trails.

He doesn't just dash across the yard to sniff through the fence at a passing dog — he picks the particular trail that leads in that direction. He's got a whole system of streets and alleys. I thought maybe when I had that yard plowed up he figured the country had reverted to wilderness and it was time he started rebuilding a city. But that isn't so. He's always had those trails. The grass simply grew so fast it covered up the wear and tear of his passing by.

Winter Resort: Lee Norton, stockman north of town, was complimenting us the other day for our year-end publication of Hope weather statistics, obtained by Managing Editor Paul H. Jones from the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station. But, said Lee, the figures don't make Hope out to be much of a winter resort. Lee was hollering because this particular winter's repeated night frosts were cutting back the grass.

But I know an old guy who comes down here every winter. I judge he's on the bum. But even a bum is a good judge of weather — perhaps he's the very best judge of weather. And weather is strictly relative. This is a bad Friday night as I write the column — bad for Hope, that is — but up Missouri way, where our bum comes from, all winters are lousy.

Winter's somewhat worse than ours over in Texas, too. A fellow townsmen tells me he saw our bum one day in Greenville, just this side of Dallas — and then saw him back here a couple of days later. Texas . . . not so good . . . you don't want its summers . . . and our friend from Missouri says he'll skip its winters!

Honest Injin: But I can tell the truth about Arkansas as well as Missouri. Texas.

I'm ready for spring.

Two More UN Employees Are Fired

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — The United Nations has discharged two more American employees listed as Communist suspects.

The U. N. announcement last night of the two new cases reduced to seven the number of Americans still working for the world organization despite State Department charges.

Four or five of the remaining seven are due to have their cases reviewed by special new panel set up by Secretary-General Trygve Lie, but probably not until they have been screened under the United States security procedures promulgated by former President Truman shortly before he left office.

The two new firings announced by the U. N. involved:

Mrs. Irene Pogorelsky, a bilingual (Russian and English) stenographer in the documents division of the department of conferences and general services. Her salary was $8,800. She was notified Jan. 26 that her dismissal was effective Jan. 21.

Abraham Nadel, a Russian prof-reader in the publishing division of the Department of Conferences and General Services. His salary was $6,000. He was notified by Secretary-General Trygve Lie that he was to go on special leave from his job until he reached retirement age of 60 May 14.

Dust Storms Rip Through Oklahoma

By United Press

Dust storms ripped Oklahoma, near-tornado winds whipped the Southeast, a flood emergency was called in Northwest California, and rain and lashed the Midwest and winter was down to business in earnest today.

Miss Robinson gave two demonstrations: (1) What Parents and Teachers See in a Sick Child and (2) The Story of Weight, which the leaders will carry back to their individual home demonstration clubs during the month of February.

High winds and heavy rains knocked out electric service in parts of New Orleans, La., crumpled a 300-foot radio tower at Brookhaven, Miss., and littered the Southeast with tree limbs and debris.

Gov. Earl Warren proclaimed a state of emergency in the flooded areas of northwestern California and police searched for a possible eighth victim of rampaging waters.

Damage to highways was estimated at $2,000,000, and the possibility of new storms in Northern California posed a serious threat. Warren said the town of Orick was in "grave danger of being entirely wiped out" by the threatening waters of Redwood creek.

Sleet, snow and heavy rain from somber clouds in the Midwest combined to make one of the gloomiest days of the winter.

Meanwhile, swimmers flocked to sun-spangled beaches in Southern California as the mercury climbed to the 80's. Another day of the same was expected today with a high of 85 predicted in Los Angeles.

Future Action on Oil Suit to Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new administration's attitude toward an anti-trust action against seven major U. S. and foreign oil companies should be clarified Wednesday.

The international oil cartel case is scheduled to come up again before Judge James Kirkland in district court here. The new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, will have to decide what further steps to take in the prosecution initiated by the Truman Administration.

Pending is the question whether some 20 U. S. oil firms must produce voluminous company records sought by the government as part of its case. A grand jury was empaneled to study charges of price fixing and market splitting by a great international cartel.

Demonstrations Given in Health Training Course

By ROBERT UDICK

SEOUL, Korea, (UPI) — Aggressive American jet pilots carried their "big kill" hunt for Communist MiG-15s into the fifth straight day today and blasted four of the Russian-built jets from Korean skies.

One MiG was probably destroyed and two more were damaged.

It was the climax to a full week of fierce dogfights high over North Korea that saw 18 Red jets shot down, 16 damaged and two probably destroyed.

The latest kills marked the crowning of two new jet aces.

Capt. Dolphin Overton, III, Andrews, S. C., shot down his fifth MiG in four days. It made him the 24th jet ace in history and the fifth Air Force said the "hottest man in jets" became an ace in the shortest time on record.

The other new ace, 25th to date, was 1st Lt. Harold B. Fischer, Jr. North Las Vegas, Nev. Both he and Overton fly with the 51st Air Wing.

Capt. Cecil G. Foster, of the same wing, got two MiGs in today's high-altitude battles, one in the morning and another in the afternoon.

Foster, of San Antonio, Tex., ran his total up to nine MiGs destroyed and two damaged. The Air Force said that made him the leading MiG killer currently in the Korean theater.

Col. James K. Johnson, Phoenix, Ariz., was credited with the probably destroyed MiG.

A film, "Breast — Self Examination," was also shown and discussed. This same film will be shown on Monday night, January 26, at 7:45 in the courtroom of the county courthouse. Dr. Jim Martindale will be present to discuss the film and answer any questions. All women in Hope and Hempstead County are invited to attend this meeting.

Any health leader who was unable to attend the leader training meeting may pick up her kit of material at the Extension Office.

Bulletin

BALD KNOB, Mo. — Fifteen cars of a fast Missouri Pacific freight train were derailed here early today, ripping up more than 600 feet of track and delaying main line traffic for about three hours. Mo-Pac officials said no one was hurt in the wreck of the St. Louis in Little Rock freight. The derailment, which happened about one-half mile south of the Bald Knob station, was believed caused by a dragging brake beam on one of the cars, the railroad said.

Traffic was expected to be resumed about noon. The locomotive did not overturn and proceeded on to Little Rock shortly after the pileup.

Wrecking crews from Paragould, Bald Knob and Little Rock were clearing the wreckage. The train was identified as No. 67.

The forecast for tonight and tomorrow is generally fair this Sunday. Near-freezing temperatures are forecast for the state.

The latest kills marked the crowning of two new jet aces.

At 88, the Chicago-born doctor, the only living student of Louis Pasteur in this country, is once again directing the vital research program he started more than 40 years ago.

But for a restless man like the former President, accustomed to seeing callers all day long, signing his name 600 times a day, surveying the whole international picture every morning before breakfast and directing the biggest government in the world, this seemed hardly enough to occupy the long hours.

And the hours are always long for a farm-raised boy who invariably gets up before 7 a.m.

Whether he will get away for that long rest he has promised himself depends on when he can make arrangements that will detail the plans of his daughter Margaret. Later on, after a lot of other problems are out of the way, he may take a trip abroad but that still is in the discussion stage.

His prime interest now is to get construction started on the 1/2 million dollar library, cultural and research center on the family farm at nearby Grandview where his brother, J. Vivian Truman, his sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, and his nephews still live.

The Kennan speech came just a day after Dulles appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and emphasized his faith in encouraging liberation of Red-controlled populations.

The State Department said yesterday that Kennan had conferred with Dulles and explained the circumstances under which he had prepared his Scranton, Pa., address. As a result of the meeting, Dulles authorized a statement which said he "wishes it to be known that he considers the episode closed."

A department spokesman, asked about Kennan's future, said the matter had not been discussed.

But he added that the incident would not affect the Russian expert's future diplomatic assignment.

"It was a very good move," Hope told a reporter. "I approve of his goal of eliminating waste and duplication and promoting efficiency, and I think the specific changes will help."

Benson announced Thursday he was consolidating 20 separate agencies within the Agriculture Department into four divisions.

Possibly the most significant change took soil conservation payments and the Commodity Credit Corporation out from under the wing of the department's Production and Marketing Administration.

This left PMA as one of the agencies on an equal footing with several others under a division director.

Clipping the powers of PMA was endorsed by Hope. Some Republicans repeatedly have charged the agency was being used to promote Democratic politics.

"PMA has been a pretty sprawling sort of agency," Hope said.

"I think the operations involved can be carried on better under an organization of the new kind."

As to whether PMA is less likely now to get involved in politics, Hope commented "that depends on who administers it and how."

Man Sought for Robbery Caught

CHICAGO (UPI) — John Joseph Brennan, 33, an ex-convict hunted for nearly six months as a suspect in a $40,000 bank robbery, was seized by FBI agents in a suburban Cicero saloon last night.

Brennan, who once boasted he never would be taken alive, surrendered meekly. No weapon was found in his possession. Agents had surrounded the saloon, expecting he might attempt to make a break.

Agents said Brennan's wife, Virginia, 28, was with him and became hysterical when he was arrested. A dozen customers were in the saloon.

Brennan was the third man seized in connection with the holdup last Aug. 1 of the bank of Lyons, Ill., in which four gunmen escaped with $40,000. Brennan, Patrick Shue, George Ellis and Richard Westerhausen were indicted in September for the bank robbery and their bonds set at $50,000 each.

Brennan was summoned before a U. S. commissioner today as a preliminary to committing him to the Cook County jail on the indictment.

His suspicious aroused, Dr. Novy directed experiments that led to the announcement that not only had the virus been found, but that, contrary to scientific belief, it was still alive.

Though it had lost some of its potency during the third of a century, the virus still killed 75 percent of the laboratory rats in three to 10 days.

Dr. Novy immediately set to work and is now completing a comprehensive report on the microorganism from laboratory notes originally made over 40 years ago.

When it was established that the deadly virus was still alive, Dr. Novy came out of retirement to join the investigation. For the first time, with the aid of an electron microscope invented since his retirement, Dr. Novy was able to see the virus. He prepared a 60-page report, which has been submitted for publication in a national medical journal.

Now, with research humbling, university scientists are investigating the possibility that other viruses, thought to die without a living host, may be capable of survival.

At 88, the Chicago-born doctor, the only living student of Louis Pasteur in this country, is once again directing the vital research program he started more than 40 years ago.

Truman himself, after nearly eight years working 17 hours a day, was not having an easy time of it settling down to a life with no crises to confront.

Finding a new job that would not clash with the dignity and honors of his former high office and getting things unpacked at the big white frame house on North Delaware Street made up two of his biggest problems. In addition, there was a mounting pile of mail pouring into his private office in Kansas City.

But for a restless man like the former President, accustomed to seeing callers all day long, signing his name 600 times a day, surveying the whole international picture every morning before breakfast and directing the biggest government in the world, this seemed hardly enough to occupy the long hours.

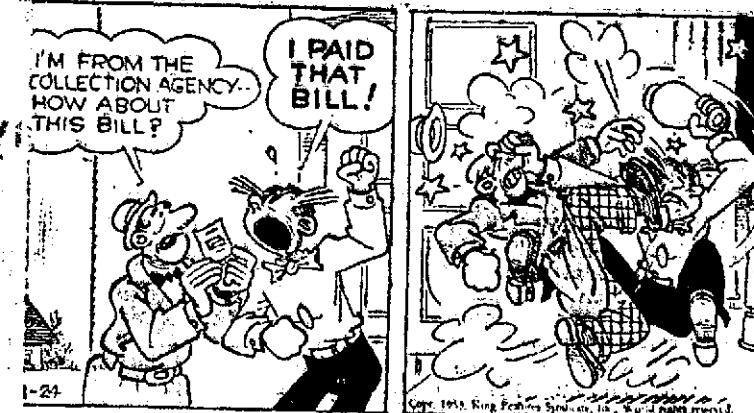

And the hours are always long for a farm-raised boy who invariably gets up before 7 a.m.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

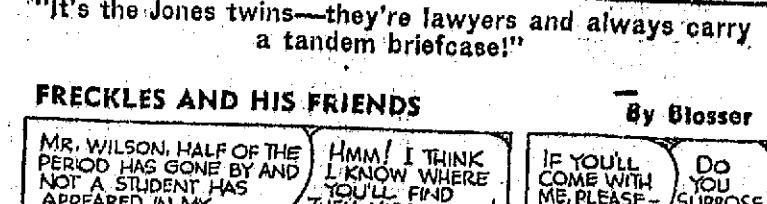

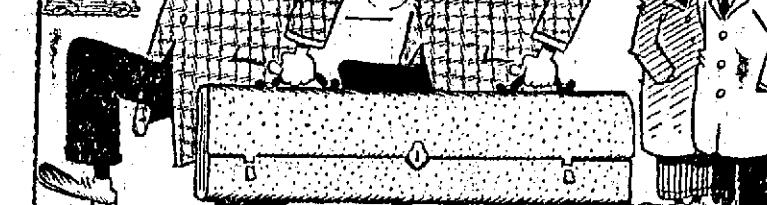

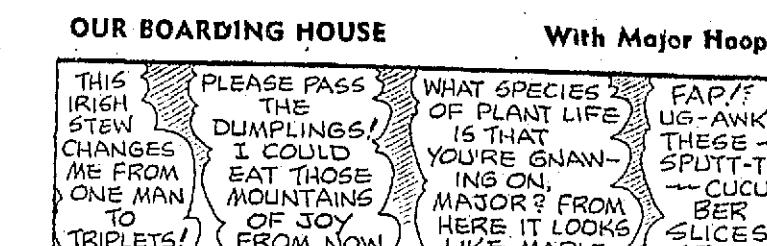

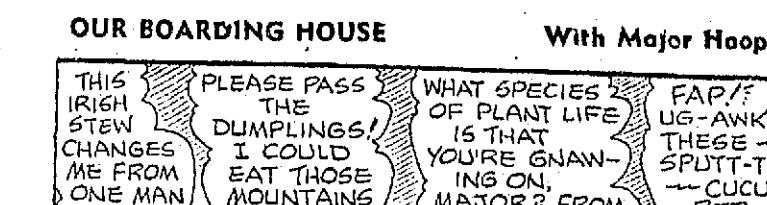

HOW DO YOU KNOW WHAT I DID WHEN YOU WASN'T EVEN IN TH' HOUSE?

IT'S VERY SIMPLE, DOCTOR WATSON--FIRST YOU SLICK UP 'D BED EARLY TONIGHT TO GET OUTA WASHIN' IN TH' DARKNESS. YOU LIT TH' NIGHT WITH UNDRESSED MADE A BED FEEL TH' DOG WITH YOUR UNDERWEAR--WHY SO THEY'D BE WARM IN TH' MORNING. GOT INTO BED, PULLED TH' COVERS OVER YOUR HEAD--WHY, SO I WOULDN'T SEE YOU NEEDED WASHIN' IF I HAPPENED TO LOOK IN!

LAND ON YOUR BACK AWHILE, LAID ON YOUR LEFT SIDE AWHILE, THEN ON YOUR RIGHT SIDE--VERY SIMPLE, MY DEAR WATSON.
